Shaping the future of maritime and logistics

Saudi Maritime & Logistics Congress was held under the patronage of His Excellency Saleh Bin Nasser Al-Jasser, Minister of Transport and Logistic Services, Saudi Arabia. Uniting global leaders and professionals from the shipping and logistics industry. The event highlighted the latest advancements in maritime equipment and logistics services, while facilitating impactful discussions on industry challenges and innovative solutions to drive sector growth.

As a hub for collaboration, the Congress brought together stakeholders from across the maritime ecosystem, offering attendees the opportunity to network, share ideas, and explore transformative strategies to address the evolving needs of the industry.

From a shared vision to a globally recognised maritime platform, Saudi Maritime & Logistics Congress stands as a testament to what's possible when ambition is backed by action. //

Bahri

Another highly impactful Saudi Maritime & Logistics Congress.

When I was fortunate enough to witness the MOU Signing between Bahri and Seatrade Maritime at the start of this event's journey more than 10 years ago, I had a strong belief that our growth story would one day look like this.

That MOU simply had one objective: create a world-class maritime event for the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.

That first MOU was with a Seatrade that had global recognition built over more than 40 years of passion for serving our industry. With now more than 55 years heritage behind us, we continue to strive for excellence for our customers. Through Seatrade Maritime and informa maritime events globally, we connect more than 100,000 maritime & logistics professionals a year. Add to that our audience online through Seatrade Maritime News and we connect more than 1 million professionals with best practice, thought leadership and networks that drive their businesses forward.

This year's Saudi Maritime & Logistics Congress proved that collaboration and connection is still very much at the heart of success in this bold and thriving maritime centre.

It was our honour to welcome His Royal Highness Prince Saud bin Naif Al Saud, Governor of the Eastern Province of Saudi Arabia to the event along with His Excellency Saleh bin Nasser al Jasser, Minister of Transport and Logistic Services. Their collective presence and support speaks volumes to the growing impact and importance of this event.

Turbo charged this year with our colleagues from Tahaluf, our very own Riyadh-based company leading the Business to Business event landscape across Saudi Arabia, we hope all of our customers and guests at the event felt the step-change in progress. That change and growth is driving real business value for companies not just in KSA but across the globe. Significant progress was made in not just volume of attendees but quality of decision makers. This is vital to the success for all and we are delighted to see the hard work of all our partners and customers paying off for the collective benefit of the industry.

I have never been more excited for the future of this event and look forward to speaking with as many customers as possible to help shape and inform the next chapter for us all.
